Located in Bouzy, in the heart of the Montagne de Reims, Domaine Lucien Collard covers 2 hectares of vineyards, producing just over 10,000 bottles that celebrate two extraordinary terroirs: Bouzy, one of the 17 Grand Crus of Champagne, famous for Pinot Noir thanks to its southern exposure and chalky soils of Cretaceous origin, and Loches-sur-Ource, in the Côte des Bar, renowned for the production of Pinot Noir on Kimmeridgian soil. Auriane Denis, who runs the Domaine, personally tends to her four parcels, treating them with the same dedication as a garden. The parcel-based approach and ageing in carefully selected vats and wood enhance the unique characteristics of each micro-terroir. Lucien Collard Champagne combines tradition and biodynamic practices, offering elegant wines with a distinctive character, perfect for those seeking an authentic and refined experience.
