On the one hand, Matthieu, heir of a family of winemakers since the 18th century, who decides in young age to devote himself to vines and wine, reorganizing the family property and looking for the diversity of the individual terroirs. On the other, Virginie, great-granddaughter of vigneron, born near Saint-Emilion, who dedicated all her energy to the world of wine. The personal and professional union between the two has given the birth of Château Ponzac in the land where Malbec was born. The property also has vines of chenin and viognier but malbec is the grape variety that most represents this small producer, perfect icon of Cahors.
