Founded in 1988 Burlington Drinks Co. is an independent company based in Essex owned by the Hayman family, the oldest family of gin distillers in the UK. Founded in 1863 by James Burrough, Burlington has long been synonymous with Beefeater Gin until it was sold to a brewing group in 1987. The Burlington Drinks Co. run by the very young James McDonald offers a Premium range of both Gin and Vodka that came onto the market for the first time in the autumn of 2015, confirming itself since the beginning as high-quality distillates with great finesse, worthy ambassadors of the to which they belong. In addition to the "white" spirits of great interest the Burlington family's produces also the Scotch Whiskey.
